DERMATOLOGY NURSES’ ASSOCIATION®

All signs point to DNA
Patient Care
DNA provides its members the information they need to stay current so that they can give their patients the best quality care.

Leadership
Empower your nurses to make decisions that bring more efficiency to your practice, by giving them the opportunity to learn about the latest and greatest in dermatology products and services. Our annual convention exhibit hall is the hot spot for dermatological product discovery.

In addition, members learn from other experienced dermatology professionals through a DNA membership. Did you know that 33% of DNA members have ten or more years working in the dermatology field? That’s a lot of experience to share…

Education
Open the door to new opportunities— from the written word to online education. Your nurses will gain access to our renowned publication, the Journal of the Dermatology Nurses’ Association and top notch continuing education programs for NPs, RNs, LPNs, Medical Assistants and other healthcare professionals. DNA guides healthcare professionals during their professional journey by providing opportunities to earn contact hours through the Online Continuing Education (CE) Center, live webinars, in-person workshops, and the DNA Annual Convention

Connections
This is the place to meet and learn from others in different clinical settings (outpatient, private practice, academic, government, etc.) and specialties (cosmetic, oncology, dermatological surgery, general dermatology, etc.). Plus, our members love to interact with those who are new to the field, as well as those who have been working in dermatology for more than 20 years.

An important group in our membership are the Nurse Practitioners. 25% of DNA’s membership consists of Nurse Practitioners, and of these valued members, 98% hold a Master’s or Doctorate Degree.

Members also include Registered Nurses, Medical Assistants and Licensed Practical Nurses. The Dermatology Nurses’ Association strives for diverse membership and welcomes your professional team to join us.
